

Local content contracts and implementation will ensure employment in the supply and parts industries. Companies will look for the cheapest option - even if they are overseas and supplies despite the questionable quality. It's time to rebuild manufacturing through local content contracts, which forces companies to source parts here.

- Increase local content contracts to a minimum of 90% on all transport vehicle builds.
- Enforce local content contracts, including financial penalties for failing to meet local content levels.
- Ensure the local content requirements exist for private companies through legislation.
- Remove labour from any calculation of local content.
